TACHRC CIC (United Kingdom)

Represented by Dr. Tasmia Tahmid (Chairman, Cancer Consortium of Bangladesh / Project Pathfinder, Consultant Oncoplastic Breast Surgeon, Portsmouth Hospitals University NHS Trust).

1. Objective & Purpose

This Letter of Intent (LOI) formally establishes an immediate collaborative alliance between the UK-based DMC Alumni network and TACHRC CIC to support, enrich, and advance the clinical, technological, and academic mission of Project Pathfinder (UK & Bangladesh). Both parties join hands to leverage bilateral British-Bangladeshi clinical diaspora expertise to elevate oncology care delivery, digital health triage, and clinical training across both nations.

2. Areas of Joint Collaboration

The subscribing clinicians and alumni network agree to cooperate in the following strategic capacities:

- Bilateral Clinical Knowledge Exchange: Creating a structured channel for mutual learning between the UK NHS framework and Bangladesh's healthcare delivery systems, focusing on adapting best practices for both environments.

- Curriculum & Fellowship Development: Providing international clinical oversight and global insights for the "Cancer Navigation Fellowship" curriculum, ensuring it carries academic and clinical merit relevant to both UK and Bangladeshi healthcare standards.
- Diaspora & Minority Health Research (UK): Collaborating on developing culturally competent digital triage pathways and comparative health systems research to address oncological screening disparities within diaspora and ethnic minority communities in the United Kingdom.
- Peer Mentorship & Support (Bangladesh): Offering direct academic, surgical, and clinical advisory mentorship to the doctors, surgeons, and healthcare workers participating in Project Pathfinder's digital triage and navigation network at the grassroots level.

3. Nature of Engagement

This engagement is strictly philanthropic, non-commercial, and voluntary. All participating UK clinical professionals offer their advisory services on an honorary basis, driven by a shared commitment to global public health, clinical innovation, and giving back to their alma mater (DMC) and the wider community.

4. Direct Execution & Continuity

The parties agree to activate this collaboration immediately through direct institutional frameworks. This alliance stands independently as a commitment between both organizations to co-develop, launch, and sustain Project Pathfinder's dual-nation oncology and medical education goals.
